MIKKELSEN & SONS GREENHOUSES

WHITE POMPONS, ANEMONES AND SINGLES

Silver Cloud - - November 1 - - (9-week)

A good producing white single with a little more class than Halo and heavier petaled. Fits into the flowering program on the same basis as Halo through spring, summer and early fall months.

Freedom - - November 5 - - (10-week)

A white single with excellent spray formation and flower substance. To be used from May to October in the greenhouse.

White Top - - November 5 - - (10-week)

An intermediate pure white decorative with very vigorous and rapid growing habits. Very highly recommended as "the" white pompon for April through November flowering in the greenhouse. Its pure whiteness, uniform response at all times, and high productivity makes it a must for the year around program as well as the natural mum season. Undoubtedly the best pompon developed to date in its response group.

White Izola - - November 12 - - (10-week)

An old variety reestablished for pot plant purposes. A low compact prolific variety that needs some disbudding to add substance to the flowers.

Illini Starflower - - University of Illinois - - November 18 - - (11-week)

A distinct novelty in a white anemone. Quite large and very useful for retail growers. Its single row of threadlike petals does not allow it to be shipped any great distance. A different form in a commercial variety worthy of trial.

Illini Peace - - University of Illinois - - November 25 - - (11-week)

An intermediate anemone with a well-formed cushion. Has good substance. A very good producer helping to fill the list of white anemones at this time of year.

White Lady - - November 25 - - (12-week)

White sport of Beautiful Lady which is finding much use both as a cut flower and a pot plant, particularly, the latter.

White Snowdrop - - Mikkelsen - - December 8 - - (13-week)

A pure white sport of Snowdrop which is very uniform in growth, substance, and production. Responds as does Snowdrop to shading for November production.

Trenton - - December 15 - - (14-week)

An intermediate pompon which gives more variety for the Christmas season. Good form and substance.

Talmeda - - January 5 - - (15-week)

This variety extends the natural blooming season about another ten days and is a more consistent variety than Revelation. An intermediate white pompon with good form and substance.

YELLOW POMPONS, ANEMONES AND SINGLESSarasota - - October 15 - - (8-week)

A bright lemon intermediate pompon from the garden variety group which has much promise as an eight week variety in the year around program.

Yellow Mary MacArthur - - Dieckmann - - October 23 - - (9-week)

A canary yellow sport of Mary MacArthur which does not stall under the high temperature conditions of the summer. Is very productive, has uniform response and helps fill the need of varieties for the summer flowering program in the greenhouse. This variety shows much promise from May through September.

Sauterne - - October 30 - - (9-week)

Highly recommended in the greenhouse from May through October as it tolerates extremes in temperature. An improvement in production and quality over existing yellow daisy varieties of this particular group.

Illini Yellow Igloo - - Mikkelsen - - November 10 - - (10-week)

A yellow sport of Illini Igloo which has good response and production April through November. A much-needed ten-week yellow pom suited for spring, summer and early fall production. Its form and production are the same as the original Illini Igloo which is white.

Yellow Izola - - November 12 - - (10-week)

An old variety reestablished for pot plant purposes. A low compact prolific variety which needs some disbudding to add substance to the flowers.

Yellow Snowflurry - - Mikkelsen - - November 15 - - (11-week)

A creamy yellow sport of Snowflurry; a pastel yellow suitable for modern floral designs of the present time. A small button with good substance and very high in production.

Illini Wampum - - University of Illinois - - November 25 - - (11-week)

An intermediate yellow anemone with excellent substance when partially disbudded. Very strong stems carrying well placed flower heads to a good finish. This variety will by far be one of the outstanding yellow anemones for its season because of its excellent production, substance and color.

BRONZE POMPONS, ANEMONES AND SINGLESCalmut - - October 8 - - (7-week)

A tan intermediate pompon from the garden variety class. Can be used as an eight-week variety during spring and fall production.

Bronze Elizabeth Hood - - Mikkelsen - - October 15 - - (8-week)

This is a bronze sport of the garden variety Elizabeth Hood suitable for cut flower purposes outdoors. Does not hold its color well under extreme heat conditions. Was formally listed as Yellow Elizabeth Hood because of its yellow appearance during spring and summer flowering in the greenhouse.

Bronze Carolyn Yosick - - Dieckmann - - October 20 - - (8-week)

A bronze sport of Carolyn Yosick that has value in very early cloth house flowering.

Mrs Wylie - - October 25 - - (9-week)

A well-known variety of the past which is being relisted because of its potential as a large bronze anemone disbud.

Bronze Izola - - November 12 - - (10-week)

An old variety reestablished for pot plant purposes. A low compact prolific variety that needs some disbudding to add substance to the flowers.

Red Izola - - November 12 - - (10-week)

An old variety reestablished for pot plant purposes. A low compact prolific variety that needs some disbudding to add substance to the flowers.

Red King- - November 13 - - (10-week)

An intermediate red daisy with short compact growth suitable for pot plant purposes.

A red anemone similar in size to Gypsy and suitable as a pot plant in its normal season.

Bronicon - - November 20 - - (11-week)

A bronze sport of Rusticon which adds a distinctive shade of bronze to this particular group of varieties.

PINK POMPONS, ANEMONES AND SINGLESMayfair - - October 15 - - (8-week)

A pink single similar to Reward in growth, form and production. Does not replace Reward because of its eight week response, but supplements it in the spring and summer program,

Dark Pink Dot - - Mikkelsen - - October 25 - - (9-week)

Dark pink sport of the old variety of Pink Dot. Has better color than the regular Pink Dot variety especially under high temperature conditions.

Pinkette - - October 25 - - (9-week)

A nine-week intermediate pink pompon suitable for April, May, June and September, October in the greenhouse. Has good quality, substance, and color for these two seasons. A much needed Pink pompon.

Blue Chip - - November 1 - - (9-week)

An intermediate pink decorative found suitable for flowering May through October. This variety, when grown partially disbudded, will undoubtedly become a main-stay in the nine-week response group of pink varieties. Very suitable as a pot plant variety.

Portrait - - November 8 - - (10-week)

Large pink pompon that replaces Pandora as a production variety. Tends to stall under extreme summer conditions but is outstanding during March, April, May, June and September, October, November. This variety makes an excellent pot plant March through December.

Ethrelda - - November 10 - - (10-week)

Another established variety which is being listed to fill pot plants needs. A purple anemone which does make a showy display during the spring and fall months.

Pink Izola - - November 12 - - (10-week)

A pink sport of Snowdrop with a true pink shade so essential for December and January flowering.

Very Dark Serrated Riviera - - Mikkelsen - - December 15 - - (14-week)
